How green is your house?

As the UK's cities expand rapidly, problems are being caused for councils who have to meet the demand for housing. In addition to this, energy prices and pollution levels continue to increase.

A solution has been developed by the Peabody Trust who have worked with environmental experts to build the Beddington Zero Energy housing development (BedZED) in Sutton, England.

This unique development is an environmentally-friendly community of a hundred homes including gardens, offices, and childcare facilities with plenty of surrounding green areas. BedZED's designers have created an attractive, affordable, urban village whose unique features benefit instead of harm the local community and environment. BedZED is a 'zero energy' development – no fossil fuels (coal and gas) are used and homes do not waste energy. Building materials are mostly natural, renewable or recycled. Houses face the south so that they get plenty of sunlight and their roofs are also fitted with solar panels, which change the sun's energy into electricity. The windows consist of three layers of glass to stop heat from escaping. The homes are also fitted with the most modern energy-saving appliances. It is estimated that families' electricity bills could be reduced by up to 60% whilst heating bills could be reduced by as much as 90%.

Developers hope to achieve a 50% reduction in fossil-fuel use by residents' cars over the next decade by reducing the need to travel. Some residents will have the opportunity to work within walking distance of their homes. The Peabody Trust also aims to set up Internet shopping so that food can be delivered by local supermarkets.

As the need for environmentally friendly, low-energy housing increases, BedZED may change from being a unique model, to a model for all future houses.

1. Example: Cities in the UK _______
   - A are getting expensive
   - B are getting larger very quickly ✓
   - C have too many politicians

2. The Peabody Trust _____ an answer to the housing problem.
   - A have found
   - B may have found
   - C have to find

3. The BedZED community is _______.
   - A very friendly
   - B good for the environment
   - C designed for people with children

4. The designers have created houses which are _______.
   - A quite expensive
   - B reasonably priced
   - C over priced

5. The homes _______.
   - A don't use any energy
   - B don't use more energy than they need
   - C use more energy than they need

6. _____ of the materials used in the buildings are environmentally-friendly.
   - A Some
   - B All
   - C Nearly all

7. Specially-designed _____ keep heat inside the houses.
   - A appliances
   - B solar panels
   - C windows

8. _____ bills could be cut by as much as 60%.
   - A Heating
   - B Electricity
   - C Fossil-fuel

9. In the next decade some residents will be able to _____.
   - A work at home
   - B take the bus to work
   - C walk to work

10. BedZED is going to _____.
    - A develop further
    - B become a town
    - C remain unique

Save the planet and get stuff for free!

Freecycle.org was started in 2003 in the USA by 36-year-old Deron Beal. When Beal wanted to give away office supplies he no longer needed, he found that his local charity shop would not take them. He didn’t want to just throw away useful items, so he decided to start ‘The Freecycle Network’ where environmentally-minded groups of people could advertise their unwanted goods online for free.

The idea proved so popular that Freecycle groups are now operating in over fifty countries. It is estimated that this worldwide movement is now responsible for preventing more than 200 tonnes of goods from being thrown away each day.

One of the reasons for the network’s popularity is that it is extremely simple to use. Members sign up to an email list on the Freecycle.org website. They then receive lists of items that people in their area would like to give away. Unlike many other online advertising sites, the items are always free. If you find something you want, you simply contact the advertiser. You are then responsible for arranging to pick the item up.

The majority of members sign up because they agree with the environmentally friendly ethos of the network. However, there are some people who do it to make money by selling the items later. The website’s voluntary workers say that they don’t mind this. The important thing is that the amount of waste being dumped in landfill sites is reduced.

Freecycle is becoming increasingly popular in the UK where there are currently more than 200 groups giving away, on average, around 45,000 items each month. Some local councils now promote Freecycle by handing out leaflets, in the hope that residents put less waste in the bins provided. Others are even considering setting up a similar community advertising programme through their websites.

A flight to nowhere

Passengers on a flight from London to New York spent a long time going nowhere on Monday. Three hours into the flight the plane developed a problem in one of its engines, and the pilot decided to turn round and return to Heathrow, where the flight landed seven hours after taking off. Passengers spent the night in airport hotels before leaving again yesterday morning – this time they reached their destination.
